

Curriculum Vitae

* Within 2 pages

|                     |                                                                                                                                              |
|---------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Name in Full | Chang-Nyol Paik                                                                                                                              |
| Country      | Republic of Korea                                                                                                                            |
| Affiliation  | Division of Gastroenterology, Department of Internal Medicine, St. Vincent's Hospital, College of Medicine, The Catholic University of Korea |
| Email        | cmcu@catholic.ac.kr                                                                                                                          |

Educational Background

1989 - 1996 College of Medicine, Catholic University awarded M.D.

2007 - 2009 A Master's degree, A graduate school of College of Medicine, Catholic University

2009 - 2012 A Doctor's degree, A graduate school of College of Medicine, Catholic University

Professional Career

2005 - 2007 Clinical & Research Fellow; Department of Gastroenterology, Kangnam St. Mary's Hospital, Catholic University College of Medicine

2007 -2010 Clinical Assistant Professor; Department of Gastroenterology, St. Vincent's Hospital , Catholic University College of Medicine

2010 – 2014 Assistant Professor; Department of Gastroenterology, St. Vincent's Hospital , Catholic University College of Medicine

2014 -2020 Associate Professor; Department of Gastroenterology, St. Vincent's Hospital , Catholic University College of Medicine

2020 – present Professor; Department of Gastroenterology, St. Vincent's Hospital , Catholic University College of Medicine

Research Field

He stayed at Saint Louis University School of Medicine, Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology, Department of Internal Medicine, Edward Doisy Research Center for Visiting Professor, 2012.7 – 2013.12.

He has published more than 100 peer-reviewed English articles in the field of pancreatobiliary diseases and dysbiosis. Recently he was invited dozens of times as a speaker of domestic or international congress. He is currently working as the head of the hepato-pancreato-biliary center at St. Vincent's Hospital , Catholic University College of Medicine.

